Do It Yourself (DIY)

The MidiBox community is very "do it yourself" oriented. Don't be offended by the phrase "do it yourself", it isn't meant to be rude. Although it is there for good reason. The MidiBox community is all about building your own custom MIDI controller. While many parts are available as kits with the necessary components and printed circuit boards, MidiBox is not about simply buying a pre-built MIDI controller from someone else. The community will not build a MidiBox for money and does not tolerate soliciting to have one built for money.
